Remote Sales Call Script

NEPQ recap for booked calls · based on Matt Ryder's generic script · 5 Nov 2026

Flow: Connect, then Situation, Problem, Solution, Consequence, Commit, Transition, Present, Close, Referrals. About 85% of the sale happens before you present, so they talk and you ask. Fill the blanks with their words.

1. Connect

Say	Notes
"Hey [name], this is just [you] from [company]. You booked a call with us on [day] about getting some help. Is now still a good time?"	Calm, low-key. "Just" lowers the pressure.
"Have you found what you're looking for, or are you still looking?" / "Do you know what you're looking for?"	Their answer tells you where they are.
"What caught your attention in the ad?" or "What were you hoping could happen from talking with us?"	Gives you their reason for being here.

2. Situation

Say	Notes
"What are you doing for [area] right now?"	Facts only, no judging.
"How long have you been doing that?" / "What made you go that route?"

3. Problem awareness

Say	Notes
"Do you like the [current approach] you have now?" (curious tone)	Most say yes. Let them.
If yes: "What do you like about it?" then "If you could change anything about it, what would it be?"	Nobody likes 100% of anything.
If no: "What don't you like about it?"
Clarify: "What do you mean by that?" / "How long has that been going on?" / "Has it affected the business? In what way?"	Drill into vague answers.
Specific: "How many hours a week are you working now? How many would you want to be working?"	Numbers make the gap real.

4. Solution awareness

Say	Notes
"Before we spoke, were you looking for ways to [their goal]?" If no: "What stopped you?" If yes: "How did that work out? What held it back?"	Learn what they've tried.
"Besides [x] and [y], what would your ideal [programme/solution] look like? What would it need?"	Ideal criteria, their spec.
"Why is that important to you now?"

"What would you ideally want to take home each year?" then "How close are you to that now? Why?"	Accept their number. Don't push it up.
"If you got there, what would you do with it? What would that do for you personally? How would that feel?"	Logic first, then emotion.

5. Consequence (light)

Say	Notes
"What if nothing changes and you keep doing the same thing for the next 3, 6 or 12 months?"	Ask once, then stay quiet.
"Why is it important to you now, though? Why not later?"	Soft, genuinely curious.

Removed on purpose: "Are you willing to settle for that?" and "Whose choice is it?" These feel like pressure. If they say it can wait, respect it.

6. Commit and transition

Say	Notes
"So how important is it for you to change this?" then "Time to make a change, possibly?"	Their yes, in their words.
"Based on what you've told me, what we do might actually work for you. You said [logical problem], and that's causing [their feeling]. With your permission, here's how it would work for you."	Repeat back their words exactly.

7. Present (15% of the call or less)

Say	Notes
Price up front, then 2 to 4 pillars: "Remember when you said [problem]? This part does [benefit]."	Only what they asked about.
Check in after each one: "Does that make sense? What are your thoughts on that?"	Small yeses.

8. Close

Say	Notes
"Do you feel like this could be the answer for you?" then "Why do you feel it is?"	Let them sell it to themselves.
"The next step, if it's right for you, is to set up [programme] by card, then onboarding and meeting your coach. Would that be appropriate, or how would you like to proceed?"	Clear and calm, no rush.
Partner: "Is there anyone you'd want to talk this over with first?" If so, book a follow-up call with both of them.	Respectful. No pressure tactics.
Money: "If funding weren't an issue, is this something that would work for you? Why?" then "How do you think you could make it work?"	Let them find the way.

Removed on purpose: suggesting a credit card or PayPal credit to pay for it. Never push someone into debt. If they can't afford it now, offer to follow up later.

9. Referrals (after they've bought)

Say	Notes
"How do you feel we've helped you most?" then "Who do you know who's struggling with [same problem]?"
"Tell me a bit about them. What's the best way to approach them? Would you give them a heads-up that I'll call?"
Calling a referral: "Hi, this is just [you]. [Friend] suggested I call, as I recently helped them with [result], and they mentioned you might be looking to do the same. Is now a good time?"

After every call

☐ Did they talk far more than me?

☐ Did I use their exact words when I repeated things back?

☐ Did I accept their numbers and their "not now"?

☐ Did I log the call in my Remote Sales Tracker?
